PRESIDENT WILSON'S LETTER

THE exultant letter of President Wilson to Secretary McAdoo has much in it that is fine, it has a good deal in it which is much more sanguine in hope than certain of fulfillment. If the new currency law will, in its operation, break the grasp which the gold combine has held on the business of the country since 1893 its beneficent power will be hailed with delight by a long suffering country. On the subject of monopoly the letter is not so clear, because out through it there still shines the prejudice which warps so many minds when wealth is considered. The man who is born rich, or who through sagacity or luck acquires large means, has a natural, legal and proper advantage over a poor man, for money is labor perpetuated, and goes on accumulating even as did the labor that created it. That gives to the rich a natural monopoly which is absolutely just unless the owner of it uses it to oppress his less fortunate fellow men.

For example, if four honest men are pursuing a business and making a little profit, and, seeing their opportunity combine and double their profits, their monopoly is entirely legitimate unless, taking advantage of their position, they begin to exact illegitimate profits.

On the tariff question the president fumbles badly. He says the former system "was purposely contrived to confer private favors." That is a very sweeping charge, and in the main is backed by no sufficient proof. On the other hand the momentous fact stands out clear and distinct, that under that tariff the country had seen such progress as no other country had ever seen, under it more skilled and unskilled laborers found employment at better wages than had ever been seen in the world's history.

The president says "the thing stood so until the democratic party came into power last year." The real truth had better be told. Many tariff-protected industries had advanced so that they no longer needed high protection, and the republican party had sought for years to have it revised, but the members of Mr. Wilson's party in congress baffled every effort in that direction. It finally went into power on a promise of revision. It met that promise by practical annihilation.

We shall see how that eventuates when the war in Europe is ended and business assumes normal conditions. We know that already it has resulted in the killing of some industries, the crippling of many others, the taking of positions from thousands of laborers and the kindling of hope in the hearts of thousands of foreign monopolists who grow rich by grinding the wages of their laborers down to almost the starvation point. In the meantime, the workers have less money and the promised reduction in the cost of living has not materialized.

Probably in his next message the president will discuss all these questions more fully and others which he did not include in his letter.

Umatilla County is to have a new and important industry. It will be a branch of the new Nature Cleansing Product Company, of Elmhurst, Ill., and will be located at Youkum, near Pendleton. The object of the industry is to ship deposits of earth from certain sections known to contain silica, peroxide, aluminum and other minerals. It has been discovered, chemical analysis, that the soil at one part of the Youkum section contains these properties.

SOME MINOR WAR NEWS FROM EUROPE

LITTLE STORIES FROM THE FRONT THAT ARE COMING IN THROUGH THE CAPITALS OF THE NATIONS NOW FIGHTING EACH OTHER—SOME ARE TRIVIAL, BUT ALL ARE INTERESTING AT THIS TIME.

PARIS, Nov. 10 (By mail to New York)—Although regimental standards are no longer carried in the forefront of the battle, modern methods of warfare have not altogether eliminated those picturesque "fights for the flag" dear to the heart of the novelist and painter. Most of the French and German regiments carry their colors with them and there have been several desperate fights for these saken trophies, the fiercest recorded being that for the standard of the Sixth Pomeranian Regiment, which now hangs in the Chapel of the Invalides for the inspection of French sightseers. The story of its capture is told by a French dragoon, whose regiment brought back the trophy.

"Under a heavy shell fire, he said, 'our guns supporting the dragons had to move to another position and the enemy, thinking that we were in retreat, hurried their advance, the Sixth Pomeranians coming up at the double. Suddenly three large shrapnel guns burst over our regiment, doing terrible execution and throwing the whole column into confusion. 'It was the right moment for us, and the dragons charged home with lances. The Germans rallied and formed into a square, but the volleys they fired were not sufficient to break the charge and we rode over them. Trampled on by the horses, sabred and transfixed by the lances, the Germans died in wild confusion. 'One little group, however, was rallied by its officers near a small copse. We did not realize the motive of their resistance until we caught sight of a gold and purple flag fluttering in the breeze. They had rallied to save their flag. We rode up to them and shouted a demand for surrender, but the only reply was a volley which sent twenty horses cantering riderless back to our lines. Our officers ordered a charge in scattered formation and the gallant little group was ridden down. 'The flag fell from the hands of a German captain who had received a terrible sabre gash across the head. It disappeared for a minute in a turmoil of horses and struggling men, and then we saw it again waved defiantly by a German sergeant, who with three other men fought themselves free. They retreated shoulder to shoulder for a few yards and then, with back to a tree, the old sergeant was left alone with the flag. But he sank to the ground in a moment, his chest transfixed by a lance. He was a brave man. 'When we brought the flag back we saw in golden letters across its

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

TRY GRANDMOTHER'S OLD FAVORITE RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy. Pastor Accused of Taking Tainted Coin

United Press Service

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Rev. Jas. T. Lowe, former pastor of the First United Evangelical church here, will be tried today by a conference of churchmen on charges growing out of his acceptance of checks amounting to several hundred dollars from the Summit County Bottlers and Brewers Association.

Lowe has spent the past two weeks in preparing a statement of his case. "My defense will be a plain statement of the facts," said Lowe here today. "The money was used solely for church purposes, and there was never an attempt on my part to conceal the fact that it was given. Brewers' money pays debts as readily as any other money."

The official board, however, thought it unwise to acquaint the board with the source of the gift.

Two other Akron churches and the Akron Y. M. C. A. have also confessed to accepting money from the liquor men's association.

EFFECTS OF CATARRH RELIEVED BY AKOZ, SAYS PORTLAND WOMAN

MRS. KATE WIELAND, PROMINENT IN FRATERNAL CIRCLES, GETS SURPRISING RESULTS

Fourteen years of catarrh served to affect the hearing and sight of Mrs. Kate Wieland, 1194 Milwaukee avenue, Portland. Three months of the Akoz mineral treatment she declares has improved her hearing and sight, and dissipated other catarrhal conditions. Mrs. Wieland, who is prominent in fraternal circles, has held many offices in the Women of Woodcraft. She writes:

"Catarrh, from which I suffered for years, caused me untold distress. I suffered from a continual hacking cough in the throat. This cough would be worst at night, when it would wake me from my sleep, and spells would come, lasting at times for twenty minutes. My hearing was bad at times, and my eyes also affected. This has all been relieved by the use of Akoz. The cough has disappeared."

OLD-TIME COLD CURE
DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold. Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.
